[0:04] [Andrew Alderson – Ralph Carr Judicial Learning Center Manager] Colorado is a Judicial Retention state for State Court Judges. Performance Evaluations are the key to a successful Judicial retention system.

[0:15] [Judge Susan Blanco – Chief Judge 8th Judicial District] Improving the performance of Colorado Judges and Justices is crucial to the State. Your feedback on Judicial surveys is a critical part of the Judicial evaluation process.

[0:25] [Mark Fogg – State Commissioner Attorney Member] And all survey responses are completely confidential. Did you know that all responses received are considered by the Commissions on Judicial Performance?

[0:36] [Judge Adam Espinosa] This is because the Judicial Performance Commissions rely on all the responses to guide their evaluation. Your personal experience provides insight on how courts are perceived by litigants, jurors, and the public.

[0:48] [Judge Susan Blanco] You are a vital part to the evaluation process and your responses highlight areas of needed improvement for the Judge and improves the Judicial system for both attorneys and clients.

[0:57] [Kent Wagner – Executive Director for the Office of Judicial Performance Evaluation] Judicial surveys are completely confidential and are available 24/7 at OJPE.ORG.

[1:04] [Mark Fogg – State Commissioner] The survey allows you to evaluate multiple Judges all in a confidential manner.

[1:09] [Judge Adam Espinosa] Simply put, without your feedback the Performance Commissions can not accurately measure the Judge's performance and professional growth.

[1:17] [Judge Suan Blanco] Visit OJPE.ORG and make your voice heard. It is completely confidential, and your input will help shift the future of Colorado's Judicial System.
